ICYE

Introduction.

Welcome to our work profile of 2025-2026

In the subpoint "Projects" every single project is described in order for you to take a general idea of the organization, the activities and tasks you will develop as volunteer, but please take in consideration:

- Social Voluntary Work is the most important part of your experience. Read carefully the description, which is just a general idea of the whole project.
- ICYE Colombia cannot absolutely guarantee you a place in a particular project or city (region) in Colombia; more than one volunteer could be interested in the same Project. On the other hand, the assignment will also depend on your experience, competencies, motivation, and Spanish level.
- For exchangees without professional experience, social work in Colombia is often very manual. The exact nature of the project depends a lot on the participation and attitude of the volunteer in developing their abilities- in other words, of being pro-active!
- There is always an opportunity to develop your role within the project according to your interests and skills

ICYE

CASA MUCURA.

Location: Coquí, Chocó (rural).

Duration: 1 year, 6 months and 3 months.

Number Of Volunteers In Project: 1

Accommodation: Living in the project.

Categories: Art and culture, environment, ethnotourism, gastronomy and agriculture.

Who are we?

Casa Mucura is a foundation created to support and accompany the local community of Nuquí (Colombian pacific coast) in the strengthening of capacities that lead to the self-management of their own projects. They co-create with a responsible community approach that starts from a close understanding of the territory and works through participatory methodologies and permaculture principles that include the vision of the community and lead to social, environmental, and economic sustainability.

Project's Activities:

- Centro de saberes Coquí: Place where they research, observe, and create biannual exhibitions and products for each of the trades drawn by the community. It has five exhibition halls: Medicinal Plants, Handicrafts, Agriculture and Gastronomy, Musical Expression and Artisanal Fishing.

ICYE

- Costurero del Golfo: During COVID-19, 5 women start sewing in their living room to create reusable and washable mask covers to help their community to protect themselves and reduce the biomedical waste that ends up on their beaches.
- La casa de todos, Arusí: This is the house created for volunteers and the community, it is some sort of communal place.

Community Context:

Coquí, which is part of the tourist municipality of Nuquí, is located in a very rich and fertile area where its inhabitants can live from what they fish in the sea and rivers, as well as from what they plant and collect in the lush jungle that grows behind them. It has a border. The work they do is promote productive initiatives that the local community wants to develop.

They also work with international cooperation, which promotes the local work of the people from Coquí. They want to have volunteers because they believe it is an enriching opportunity to continue with the exchange of culture and knowledge.

Volunteer's Requirements :

There are no specifications on the volunteer's profile. The important thing is that the volunteer has a good attitude, has disposition, and is proactive. It is vital for the volunteer to be open-minded and to be very respectful of other cultures and ancestral knowledge.

Volunteer's Tasks:

- Exchange of knowledge between the volunteer and the community.
- Accompany the different experiences the foundation do with tourists and people from the community.
- Support the workshops they do (Medicinal Plants, Handicrafts, Agriculture and Gastronomy, Musical Expression and Artisanal Fishing).
- Support the activities with children and women.

THE COST OF ARRIVAL TO THE PROJECT IS BEARED BY THE VOLUNTEER OR BY THE SENDING COMMITTEE.

ICYE

ÑAMBI WAIRA.

Location: Puerto Limón, Putumayo.

Duration: 6 months and 3 months.

Number Of Volunteers In Project: 1

Accommodation: Living in the project.

Categories: Art and culture, environment, ethnotourism, agriculture, technology and health.

Who are we?

This project was founded by local communities of Puerto Limón, Putumayo. Its main aim is to disseminate information regarding the culture of Inga indigenous communities and the importance of nature/environment for them; this means that the experts on this topic are the community itself. They do these through ecotouristic activities in order to teach other people about this in a dynamic way.

Project's Activities:

The aim of Ñambi Waira's project is to disseminate information about this area of the country, to make known the cultural customs of the Inga indigenous community as well as the afro community, and the beauty of nature that is not found anywhere else in the country. To be able to accomplish this, the project offers eco touristic activities as a dynamic way to teach about their cultures. They work with local people as well as tourists that visit the zone.

ICYE

Community Context:

Puerto Limón is a small town located in the Caquetá and Mocoa river valley, with a population of approximately 1,381 people. It has a wet tropical rainforest climate, with heavy rainfall year-round, since it is on the border of the Amazon jungle.

In this particular part of the country, there are Inga indigenous communities, Afro-descendants of the Pacific and white people. In the project, there are people who belong to these communities and they are all working towards disseminating their cultures and the importance of the environment. There is a very familiar dynamic in the project given the nature of their members.

Volunteer's Requirements:

The volunteer must know how to use social media. Although it would be better to have Spanish skills, it is not mandatory. There is no gender or age barrier. For the project, the most important skill is to be respectful with their community and customs, and the volunteer must also enjoy and understand the importance of nature and environment for life.

Volunteer's Tasks:

- The main task for the volunteer would be to help the project with their social media accounts in order to share important information about the placement, the culture and the activities they offer.
- The volunteer can also propose activities to do with the community, including teaching English to the local children and adults.
- He/she might also be asked to help with some administrative work.

THE COST OF ARRIVAL TO THE PROJECT IS BEARED BY THE VOLUNTEER OR BY THE SENDING COMMITTEE.

ICYE

Who are we?

Offer integral attention to children and teenagers in Bogotá who need it the most and provide them with protection, inclusion, prevention and capacitation for their lives. Care for girls and young women between 8 and 18 years old who are in vulnerable conditions and that live in a foster home because their families cannot support them due to economic difficulties.

Project's Activities:

These girls study near their foster home during the morning, and it is possible that the volunteer will go to school with them to support their educational activities. We also offer support and love to these girls.

ICYE

Community Context:

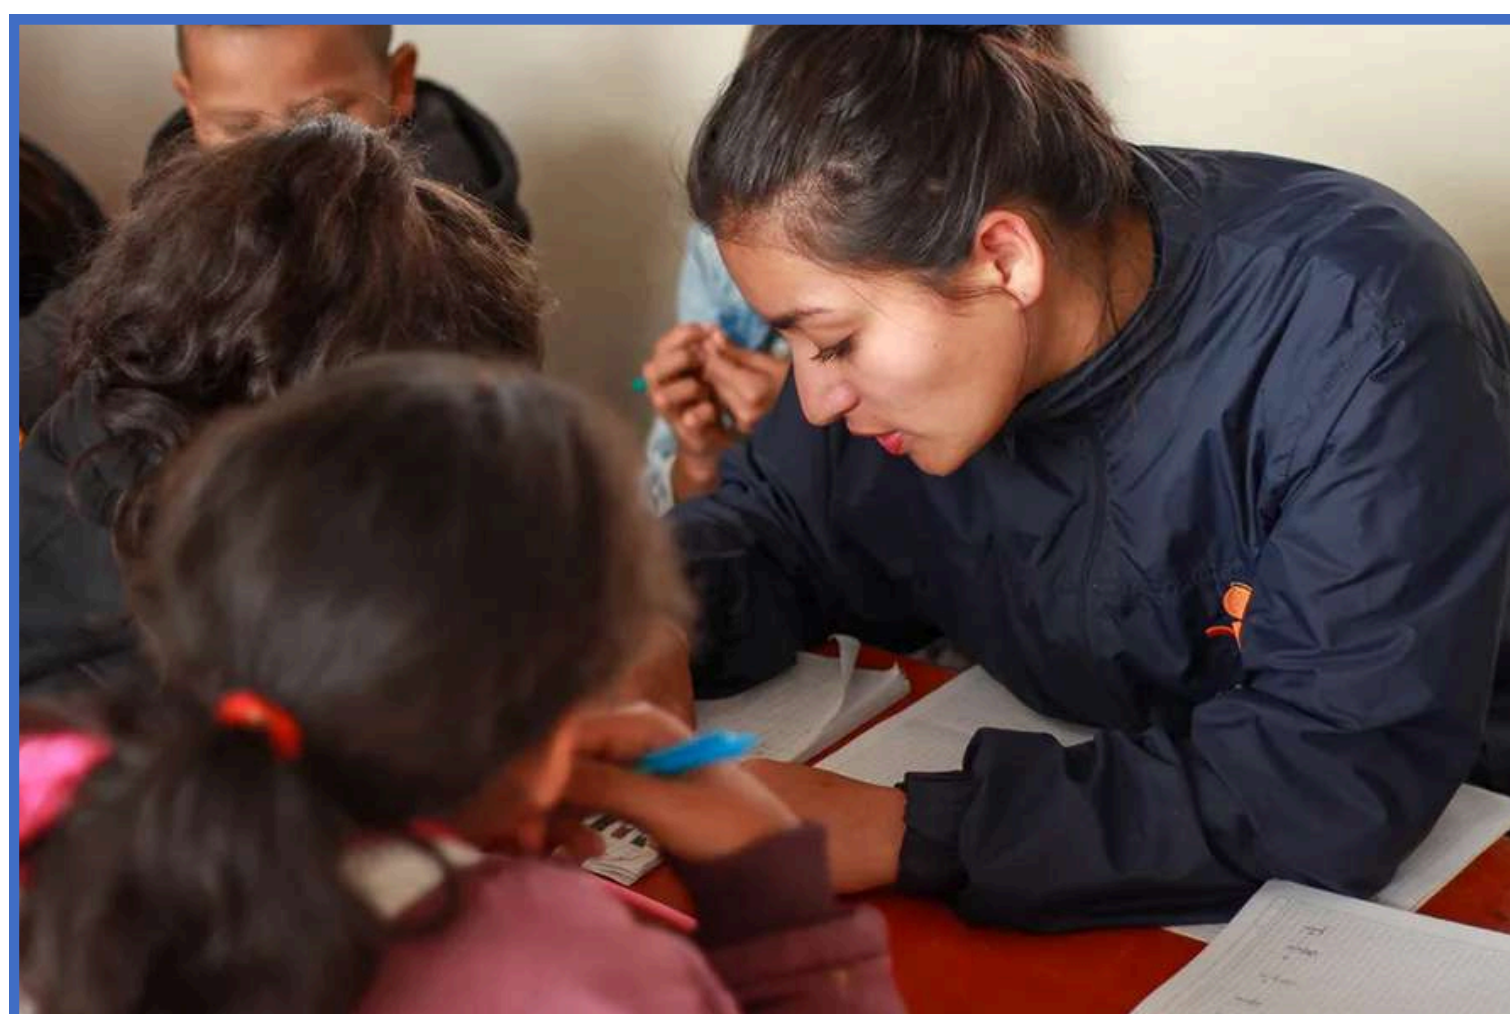

Bogota is the capital and largest city in Colombia with about 10 million people. It is a convergence point for people from all over the country, so it is diverse and multicultural, combining the ancient and the modern. It is located at an altitude of 2,600 meters above sea level and is surrounded by mountains like a green sea, for this reason autumn clothing is perfect for the city. Thanks to this fusion of past and present, in the capital you will find an ideal destination with history, fun, gastronomy, culture, business and much more.

Volunteer's Requirements:

The volunteer must be female. It is expected that the volunteer has an affinity to work with children and teenagers. They should be a respectful person ready to listening and learning, and also have abilities to teach English.

Volunteer's Tasks:

- Plan activities and classes to teach English.
- Help with different kitchen tasks.
- Support with their homework.
- Propose activities to do in the spare time of the girls and youngsters.

Duration: 1 year and 6 months.

Number Of Volunteers In Project: 1

Accommodation: Host Family.

Categories: Education, children and Youth, sports and art.

Who are we?

Offer integral attention to children and teenagers in Bogotá who need it the most and provide them with protection, inclusion, prevention and capacitation for their lives. We work for children and adolescents in situations of high social vulnerability. In Fundación San Antonio, they can find the opportunity to grow as independent citizens, to build their life project and thus dream of a better tomorrow. Our commitment is a contribution to make the Millennium Development Goals a reality in Bogotá. We want children to come first, that their rights prevail, that they are not lost in the vicious circle of poverty, that no one suffers hunger and that they do not abandon the educational system

Project's Activities:

We educate the children and youth of Bogotá, with ethical and Christian values to transform their future and that of their families. We guarantee their rights, preventing all forms of mistreatment, abuse and psychosocial risks. In this way, our beneficiaries conquer spaces of inclusion through education for life.

ICYE

Community Context:

ICYE

COLEGIO CAMPESTRE ICAL.

Location: Chía, Cundinamarca.

Duration: 1 year.

Number Of Volunteers In Project: 1

Accommodation: Host Family.

Categories: Education, children and Youth, sports and special needs .

Who are we?

The project is a school center for approximately 250 children from promoting education and rehabilitation of deaf and hearing impaired children, but also children with various disabilities as well as hearing-healthy children. Most of the pupils come from socially deprived families. The main aims are to help the children develop cognitive, communicational, moral and social skills, so that they can be self-confident members of their community.

Project's Activities:

Child education in normal academic subjects, with additional teaching of health and foreign languages, as well as rehabilitation sessions.

Note: You will be able to learn Colombian sign language.

Community Context:

Chía is a small town located north of Bogotá, less than an hour bus ride away from the capital (10 km). It is active every day of the week. Within its urban area, there are all kinds of stores that have adapted to the immediacy of the city. However, in the rural area, there are different parks and meadows where you can see a green landscape and pure air where you can breathe tranquility all day long.

ICYE

Chía is a favorite for sportsmen. It is ideal for those who practice trekking. On weekends it is one of the favorite destinations of the capital to have lunch, have a snack or spend some time with the family. Thanks to this, it is normal to come across restaurants with typical food outdoors and cuisines from all over the world. Many people either live in Chía and work in Bogotá or viceversa, for this reason the volunteer could live in Bogotá.

Volunteer's Requirements:

- Willingness to work with deaf children
- Must be open-minded, sociable, patient, tolerant and creative.
- Must be willing to attend sign- language classes.
- Because of the second language (sign- language) a base-level of Spanish is preferable.

Volunteer's Tasks:

- Supporting and helping the teachers.
- Especially taking care of one child.
- Assisting children from nursery or pre- kindergarten level to adolescents (Subjects can be sports and pedagogical learning games).
- They also could support the administrative office.

Duration: 1 year, 6 months and 3 months.

Number Of Volunteers In Project: 1

Accommodation: Living in the project.

Categories: Education, environment, children and youth, Gender and Human Rights, agriculture and sports.

Who are we?

We are a non-profit organization with an educational offer for the public and private sector that requires a proposal in alternative pedagogies, flexible models, strategies and didactics, to strengthen the teaching and learning processes, in order to restore the fundamental right to receive a quality education. In the path of offering quality education and social integration, a pedagogical proposal arises, which articulates pedagogical, environmental, scientific, artistic and multicultural strategies, in a small farm.

Project's Activities:

We create experiential laboratories for children, which through regenerative education, promote principles of circular economy and permaculture.

ICYE

Community Context:

Tenjo is a town in the Central Savanna Province of Colombia, where you can enjoy the scenic landscapes of the Andean highlands, the fresh produce of the local farmers and much more.

Note: the volunteer will stay at the project, however, it becomes more of a host family environment since he/she will be living with the founding couple of the project.

Volunteer's Requirements:

Must be fluent in English. Must be a sensitive person, very open-minded and someone who likes to spend time with children for a good relationship with them.

Volunteer's Tasks:

- Experiential laboratories where the most important thing is the interaction of different cultures.
- Support with the foundation's activities
- Help with harvesting, elaboration of material, in the library, etc.

ICYE

Who are we?

IED Niño Jesús de Praga is a public school located in Popayan, the main city of this region. The school is open every day, and usually, they have students from Monday to Saturday in the morning shift. They have students of all ages, from preschool to high school. They also have a lot of different projects running besides the academic classes. For the school, the environmental area is very important since it is a rural area, therefore they have a range of projects such as recycling, a school garden that includes medicinal plants, etc.

Project's Activities:

The volunteer will be able to support and participate in the school projects that are:

- Recycling
- De paso en el museo (Going through the museum)
- Huerta escolar: cultivo de plantas medicinales (School garden)

The volunteer might help with social media and the school's web page management.

Community Context:

Popayan is commonly called "the white city" because of the color of the houses that adorn its colonial architecture. Founded in 1537, it is one of the oldest cities, not only in Colombia, but in America. And this historical tradition allows it to offer visitors a wide range of tourist attractions.

The school works with people from the city of Popayan and other municipalities and small towns near this city. They have students from preschool, elementary, and high school.

Volunteer's Requirements:

There are no specifications on the volunteer's profile, they can be male or female, and there are no age requirements either. The important thing is that the volunteer has a good attitude, has disposition, and is proactive.

Volunteer's Tasks:

- The volunteer will be helping with different activities and events taking place at the school. They will also be helping some teachers with their classes (as assistants in the classes they are more interested in), including the English language classes too.
- The volunteer will be able to support and participate in the school projects.
- The volunteer might help with social media and the school's web page management.
- The school is open to any new ideas or projects the volunteer wants to develop during his/her year.

San Francisco is a coffee and banana producing municipality of 10,000 in the Colombian Highlands. Located in a beautiful valley about 50kms outside of Bogotá, it features a very nice climate of always above 20 degrees, feels like 25 at about 1'400 meters (town) and 1'600 meters (foundation) of altitude, aprox. 1'000 meters below Bogotá.

Our foundation is part of a coffee farm and is about a 15 minute walk from the village. It is simply beautiful and idyllic. Living on the project means that both food and accommodation are provided on site. There are 5 meals a day, 3 main meals and 2 small meals in between.

Volunteer's Requirements:

We are happy to receive volunteers with experience in pedagogy, education, teaching or psychology, as well as homework or school support. We are even more happy, if you got none of the above BUT a huge interest to work with children and teenagers, as well as sharing your passion and knowledge with others, as well as being self-sufficient and proactive, e.g. prepare material and lessons according to age groups, come up with own ideas how to achieve something.

Volunteer's Tasks:

- Working on household and daily tasks (gardening, cooking, office work, handicrafts...)
- Support kids in daily tasks and accompany them as educational, and role models. (english classes)
- Arrange free-time activities Arrange activities that promote self-esteem.
